

WHY DO RESIDENTIAL LANDSCAPING?

Do you have a residential landscape to rejuvenate and relax? If you do, here are some top reasons why landscaping is important:

1. PRESERVES THE ENVIRONMENT

When you plant more trees, you contribute to protecting the environment. Through the process of photosynthesis, the plants continue to produce oxygen keeping us all alive and breathing.

2. PROVIDES CLEANER AIR

Plants are known to absorb toxic chemicals and harmful pollutants to purify the air without using any machinery or electricity. This means the more greenery you add to your property, the better the air quality around your home.

3. CREATES A COOLING EFFECT

As cities continue to grow, lush green spaces are getting replaced with asphalt and cement. Grass acts as a natural coolant for your property. Lawns are 20 degrees cooler than bare soil and 31 degrees cooler than asphalt.

4. ENHANCES CURB APPEAL

A well-manicured lawn makes your property stand out from the rest. It may even add value to your home should you want to sell it at a future date. The flower beds, trees and shrubbery give a beautiful look to your backyard.

5. PREVENTS SOIL EROSION

Soil erosion is a global issue. If your property is located on a hill, rocks can get dislodged as rain and wind move across your household. You can avert this hazard and also add to the appearance of your residential landscaping.

6 IMPROVES QUALITY OF LIFE

According to studies, simply looking at trees and plants (even through windows) is enough to lower your blood pressure and reduce stress. Another study shows that neighborhood with green spaces experience an improved quality of life.
